

What to expect:

Bobtail Operation & Delivery is a two-day course taught by a qualified instructor and is part of the newly revised CETP program. Students will take a number of quizzes and tests in order to assess their pace of learning. A final multiple choice test is administered at the end of the class; these tests are graded by a third-party and the results are mailed to each company.

MO-PERC funding underwrites the cost of student and test materials as well as a copy of 2020 NFPA 58, pencils, markers and other materials. Lunch and break refreshments are included. Other meals, lodging and travel are not included.

Bobtail Delivery

CETP Module 2.2

Offered by the Missouri Propane Gas Association

Supported by the Missouri Propane Education and Research Council

Prerequisite: The student must have successfully completed CETP Module 1: Basic Principles and Practices.

Who should attend: Bobtail Delivery is a course for all employees, owners, managers and others who handle, store or transport propane in the State of Missouri. State law requires that these industry personnel must attend and complete an approved, state-certified training program every three years. Bobtail Operation and Delivery is designed especially for the employee who uses a bobtail to deliver propane to the consumer.
